Don't Stop Tobacco.

HOW TO CURE YOURSELF WHILE USING IT.

The tobacco habit grows on a man until his nervous system is seriously affected, impairing health, comfort and happiness. To quit suddenly is too severe a shock to the system, as tobacco to an inveterate user becomes a stimulant that his system continually craves. "Bacco-Cure" is a scientific cure for the tobacco habit, in all its forms, carefully compounded after the formula of an eminent Berlin physician who has used it in his private practice since 1872, without a failure. It is purely vegetable and guaranteed perfectly harmless. You can use all the tobacco you want while taking "Bacco-Cure." It will notify you when to stop. We give a written guarantee to cure permanently, or we will refund the money with 10 per cent. interest. "Bacco-Cure" is not a substitute, but a scientific cure, that cures without the aid of will power and with an inconvenience. It leaves the system as pure and free from nicotine as the day you took your first chew of smoke. Cured by Bacco-Cure and gained "Thirty pounds."

From hundreds of testimonials, the originals of which are on file and open to inspection, the following is presented:

Chrysler, Nevada Co., Ark., Jan. 28, 1895. Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis.—Gentlemen: For forty years I used tobacco in all its forms. For twenty-five years of that time I was a great sufferer from general debility and heart disease. For fifteen years I tried to quit, but could not. I took various remedies, among others "No-To-Bac," "The Indian Tobacco Antidote," "Double Chloride Gold," etc., etc., but none of them did me the least bit of good. Finally, however, I purchased a box of your "Bacco-Cure" and it has entirely cured me of the habit in all its forms, and I have increased thirty pounds in weight and am relieved from all the numerous aches and pains of body and mind. I could write a quire of paper upon my changed feelings and conditions. Yours respectfully, J. H. MANNING, Pastor C. P. Church, Clayton, Ark. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per box; three boxes, (thirty days' treatment), $2.50 with iron-clad written guarantee, or sent direct upon receipt of price. Write for booklet and proofs. Eureka Chemical & Mfg. Co., La Crosse, Wis., and Boston, Mass. 37-610.

THE FARMER'S STROLL.

It Cost Him Joy and Reputation, Self-respect and Eke His Roll.

Old he was a lonely farmer, with a voice as soft as down, and he wasn't well acquainted with the manners of the town. He had heard the brook that gurgled through the "medder" by the mill, but he wasn't used to people who will rob and steal and kill.

He was guileless as a maiden in her early days at school, and he dressed in manner simple, and his garb was light and cool. He was never a moment worried by the lack of a cravat, and as far as underclothing—why, he never thought of that.

Once he wondered to the city with the hayseed in his hair, and his whiskers like a Billy goat's were swaying in the air. When the breezes from the river kissed his burnt and swarthy cheek, and was like a babe in heaven, and he thought he'd stay a week.

"Goshed if this ain't like the kentry," cried this farmer old and gray, "only there is more o' houses an' a dern o' hay. Thing I'd like it powerful well if I'd bunk up byar in town. Soon's I dig my crap o' 'taters, p'raps I'll try the thug a round."

When he wandered on the Levee and meandered up the street, to his agricultural vistas it was like a heavenly treat. All the world was filled with glory and his life was free from care, and his eyes with joy were sated—and the wind blew through his hair.

But, alas! there came a moment, and it was a thine acurist, when he sought to quench the ardor of his raging rural thirst. Then he dallied with the tempter in a night and airy vein, but it seized him by the collar and upset his fevered brain.

Then he wandered like a specter with its long and skinny hands, down into the Peds of Lava, down into the Awful Lands, and he recked not of the danger of the pathway that he trod till a dusky siren caught him and relieved him of his wad.

Woe and woe for Mr. Farmer and his roll that vanished quite! Woe and woe for Mr. Farmer and his dreams of rare delight! Never more will he meander through the land where beauty lies thick as hornets on a sapling or as clouds in summer skies!

Safe within his rural bower he will contemplate the time when he dallied with the tempter in the city's slums and slime. Old he'll never care to wander from the dear old farm again, and he'll leave the quest of pleasure to a scouter set of men.

Dr. Bullington's Brother.

The Rockport Journal has the following to say regarding the death of the brother of our fellow-townsmen, Mr. E. L. Bullington:

Death came at 12 m. on Thursday last and released C. A. Bullington from the affliction under which he had suffered so long and patiently. He died at the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. C. O. Pritchard, of this city, where he had been tenderly nursed and cared for during his illness of nearly two years of consumption.

Mr. Bullington was a son of Dr. W. H. Bullington, and was born near Marietta, Crawford county, Indiana, Jan. 26, 1858. In 1883 he graduated from the Louisville Law School, and on Jan. 29, 1890 was married to Miss Lettie Pritchard, who survives to mourn his loss. In 1891 he removed to this city and engaged in the practice of his profession—the law—and was fast building up a successful business when he was stricken down with typhoid fever from which he suffered for many weeks, and this was followed by lung trouble. He bore his affliction bravely, and when the messenger came stated he was fully resigned to go, and expressed faith in a better life beyond. The funeral took place from the residence at 3 p. m. Sunday, Rev. R. A. Kemp, of the M. E. Church, conducting the services, after which the remains were laid to rest in Rockport cemetery, the Masonic order conducting the burial. There was a large attendance at the funeral, attesting the high esteem in which the deceased was held by the community and the deep sympathy for the bereaved family.

Old People.

Old people who require medicine to regulate the bowels and kidneys will find the true remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and contains no whisky nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and purifier. It acts mildly on stomach and bowels, adding strength and giving tone to the organs, thereby aiding Nature in the performance of the functions. Electric Bitters is an excellent appetizer and aids digestion. Old people find it just exactly what they need. Price five cents and $1.00 per bottle at Williams & Bell's Drug Store.

Why He Was Debarred.

He stood before St. Peter and applied for admission to the holy land. "Cannot admit you, sir," "Cannot admit me!" exclaimed the dismayed applicant. "Haven't I lived a Christian?" "Yes, in the main." "Haven't I obeyed the laws of the land?" "Oh, yes." "Then what is my offense?" "You wanted to stop your newspaper, and instead of dropping a line to the publisher and paying all arrearages, you had the postmaster to send him a line to the effect that his paper was refused. A man so mean and contemptible as that could find no company in heaven; so please move on to the land where they don't shovel snow."

Advertising.

Competition renders advertising a necessity, and scarce is the business that has none. This may not be in your town, but is surely in an adjoining one, and these times of rapid transit and cheap transportation, together with a desire to see a live man's stock of goods and secure a published bargain, always catches the purchaser who has an eye or his interests. But he who does no advertising tells you that he saves just that cost each year. Of course he does; and in addition to this cost he saves himself a lot of labor in tying up packages, saving his stock of goods and perhaps borrows money to pay his rent. The time has passed, in this country, when dead men can get to the front, and he who battles who attracts the public, is the man who wins. Again, the party who constantly keeps his wares before the public, beats the one who advertises by apella. It must not be forgotten, however, that these advertisements need constant care. They must be worked over often, new leaders and new attractions brought out and people are as eager to read them as they are the neighborhood news. The drill season, which comes in every trade, is made less dull, and the lively season more lively judicious advertising.

Trade at Home.

Who is the home merchant? He is the man who helps pay for the streets upon which you walk; for the school in which your children, or perhaps you, were educated; he helps to keep up the church in which you worship; he is the man who builds a home which enhances the value of your property; every subscription paper that is passed, his name is upon it; he is the one who cannot afford to swindle you; self interest. If nothing else, would prevent this; he bears his share of the burden of government and stays with you in sunshine and darkness, in the days of prosperity and adversity. These are a few reasons why your patronage should be given to the home merchant.

THE YEAR 1893

IN COMMERCIAL DISASTERS AND DEPRESSIONS THE WORST IN FIFTY.

From Dun & Co. it states that: "Starting with the largest trade ever known, mills crowded with work and all business stimulated with high hopes, the year 1893 has proved, in sudden shrinkage of trade, in commercial disasters and depressions of industries, the worst for fifty years. The year closes with the prices of many products the lowest ever known, with millions of workers seeking in vain for work, and with clearly laboring to keep back suffering and starvation in all our cities." It states that the collapse of industry and business is almost without precedent. The iron and woolen industries have fallen off over one-half and the price of wool had descended to the lowest point ever known. Bradstreet's reported the number of business failures to have increased over 50 per cent., while the liabilities had amounted to $402,400,000, an increase of over 400 per cent. of the previous year.

Dun & Co. significantly remark that the scanty records of 1837 do not show whether the disasters of that year were relatively as severe as those of the year just ended. As 1837 was another of the years in which the Democratic party ascended to power, pledged to enforce a free-trade policy, and nearly swept the country into general bankruptcy, the comparison was apt and suggestive. Whatever the comparison may prove, certain it is that the results during each year prove that the less we have of the Democratic policy and administration the better we will be off.—[Louisville Commercial.]

Blood Poison.

Contagious Blood Poison has been appropriately called the curse of mankind. It is the one disease that physicians cannot cure; their mercurial and potash remedies only bottle up the poison in the system, to surely break forth in a more virulent form, resulting in a total wreck of the system.

Mr. Frank H. Martin, a prominent jeweler at 926 Pennsylvania Ave., Washington, D.C., says: "I was for a long time under treatment of two of the best physicians of this city for a severe case of blood poison, but my condition grew worse all the while, notwithstanding the fact that they charged me three hundred dollars. My mouth was filled with eating sores; my tongue was almost eaten away, so that for three months I was unable to taste any solid food. My hair was coming out rapidly, and I was in a horrible fix. I had tried various treatments, and was nearly discouraged, when a friend recommended S.S.S. After I had taken four bottles, I began to get better; and when I had finished eighteen bottles, I was cured and well, my skin was with out a blemish, and I have had no return of the disease. S.S.S. saved me from a life of misery." S.S.S. (guaranteed purely vegetable) will cure any case of blood poison. Republican Ticket.

ELECTION NOV. 3, 1896.

For Congress,
HON. JNO. W. LEWIS.

If you are owing us on subscription, please call and settle at ONCE. The tag on your paper will indicate how much you owe. Now, we are in earnest about this matter and MUST have money. We have made repeated appeals to some of you in regard to your accounts, but you have not responded. It takes money to pay our bills, and a few dollars from you will assist us very greatly. Please attend to this and let us hear from you without delay.

HON. Henry Watterson has put the deep blue sea between himself and his native land. This secures for the distinguished journalist a serene and calmer mind than if he were at home during this campaign.

The difference between the Democratic party of to-day and the Democratic party of 60 years ago, is this: Then it had some few principles for which it contended, now it has none at all.

This reason so many Democrats are so keenly interested in the opinions of Maj. McKinley, is that they already look upon him as their next President. It is quite natural for Americans to show great interest in one who is to be their President.

Why should the original Hartford Herald demand that McKinley give his financial views to the public? The original Herald should be so persistent. It might force Mr. McKinley to give his views just to rid himself of the annoyance of the Herald. This would be quite hard on Mr. McKinley.

HON. J. C. S. Blackburn, he who failed to be elected Senator by the Kentucky Legislature, has announced that he will forego the pleasure of a trip to the Moral Academy at Annapolis, and will attend the Democratic Convention at Lexington instead, where he will try to prevent instructions for J. G. Carlisle. It daily becomes more apparent that Carlisle cannot carry his own state. Mr. Blackburn wants to repay Bier. Carlisle for the little sashy he made in this State in the interest of sound money, thereby assisting in the defeat of Mr. Hardin and Mr. Blackburn himself.

SOUTHERN REPUBLICANS.

The Republican nomination for President is already settled. It is now conceded that McKinley and the hour will meet. The Vice President however, is yet to be made.

Who shall be his running mate? Is now the only matter to be determined at the St. Louis Convention, as far as candidates are concerned.

Is not the South entitled to this place on the ticket?
When we remember the hopeless fight that Southern Republicans have been making since the war, a fight, though hopeless, yet bravely waged. When we remember that we have recently placed Kentucky, Louisiana and Missouri among the Republican States, then there can be no doubt in the minds of all fair-minded men that the South is entitled to second place on the ticket.

The South can never expect recognition from the Democratic party. That party knows full well that the majority of the Southern States will blindly support the ticket, while Northern States will not. The Democratic party therefore will, in the future, as it has in the past, spur that section of the country from which its most substantial aid is derived, and will select its standard bearer from the North for the purpose of making votes. The South is practically ignored by the Democratic party.

The Republican party to-day, as it ever has been, is broad minded and liberal; it rises above prejudice and sectionalism. Now that the South has shown a disposition to embrace Republican principles, the Republican party will be ready to recognize the South, if Southern Republicans will only ask it.

There are many Southern Republicans who would grace the Vice Presidential chair; who would be an honor to the party and to the nation. Let Southern Republicans therefore demand that the nominee for Vice President be a Southern man.

PISCO'S CURE FOR
CROOKED NECKS, STIFF NECKS, RHEUMATISM, BRUISES, SWELLINGS, AND ALL THE AILMENTS OF THE NECK AND THROAT.

Mr. WOOD TINSLEY who has just returned from the State Encampment, says he never saw a more orderly and sober crowd in his life than was at the Encampment. The Herald this week says Gov. Bradley's Staff was drunk and disorderly. Mr. Tinsley informs us that that report is false, but it doesn't go very far when it is published in the Herald, people are so used to its falsehoods.

Mr. BEN MILLER who has been chosen chairman of the Todd County Republican Committee, has written a card to the Hopkinsville Banner, in which he thanks the Republicans of the county for the honor they have conferred on him. In his card Mr. Miller gives Republicans in his district some good advice, and shows that he is a Republican from principle. Todd county should congratulate itself on securing such an admirable chairman.

MEMORIAL DAY.

To-morrow is a day that should stir the emotions and arouse the patriotism of every heart. It is a day devoted to our soldier dead. There is, on the part of the American people a growing disposition, to attain to wealth and influence. The past and its history, and the heroes who have died in freedom's cause, are all but forgotten in the mad, wild rush for material aggrandizement. To-morrow, however will bear the martial music of file and drum; will see marching columns and flying flags; will see grassy mounds strewn with violets and roses, and all in honor of the brave who sleep in death.

Let business cares and worldly affairs be forgotten for a day. The heroic dead demand our tribute at least for one short day in the space of a year. Memorial day is not intended for old soldiers alone. To them to be sure the day is most impressive. For as they march to the cemeteries where, in their comrades' rest, they know that they as survivors will in a few years at most, march out of the land of the living and into the land of the dead. The hand of old soldiers is a constantly decreasing one.

Erstwhile they march with firm steps with hearts made strong by vigorous manhood. Now they falter, their steps are feeble and the day is one of mingled gladness and sadness. But every patriotic heart should take a part in this tribute to the dead warrior. We who are living enjoy the result of the conflict in which thousands fell. We are at peace in a united and happy nation. Sweet peace prevades the nation throughout. "Peace in the quiet dale, Made rankly fertile by the blood of men; Peace in the woodland and the lonely glen, Peace in the peopled vales."

"Peace in the crowded town, Peace in a thousand fields of waving groves, Peace in the highway and the flowing lane, Peace o'er the wind swept down, Peace on the whirling marts, Peace where the scholars think the hunter roams, Peace, God of peace, peace, peace, in all our homes, And all our hearts."

Therefore as the old soldier goes again to deck with flowers the grave of his comrade, the heart and head of the nation should be with him in his act of tribute and devotion to the nation's slain.

Memorial day is not a time for prejudice or strife. The dead soldier who gave his life for the lost cause is remembered.

Kind hands and hearts in which there is no hate pay tribute to him; recognizing that he was brave and fearless in defending what to him was right, and thus as the graves of our heroes are covered with tokens of love we should remember that:

"No more shall the war cry sever Or the winding river be red; They banish our anger forever, When they laud the graves of our dead."

Under the sod and the dew Waiting the judgment day;

Love and tears for the Blue; Tears and love for the Gray.

Geo. Long Entomologist.
Kentucky is now unwittingly rearing a successor upon whose shoulders the mantle of Secretary John G. Carlisle will naturally fall. The old Commonwealth may congratulate herself that she has a Republican statesman who can take care of the portfolio as creditable as does the great Democrat. If McKinley or any other Republican goes into the White House the Cabinet lightning will strike Kentucky and a bolt straight from the Treasury will strike in Frankfort. State Treasurer Long is now in training for Washington. He has instituted methods that if put into force will reduce the public expenditures 50 per cent. Long was reared on a small farm in Western Kentucky and in his eyes a silver dollar is as big as a Ferris Wheel. He has a mass of jaw and small, deep-set eyes and a burglar-proof skull. He is holding the administration up by the tail and making State constabulary sweat blood. —[The Star.]

UNION.
Tobacco planting is the order of the day. Crops generally looking well. Died May 16, the little son of Richard and Ada Frazell, aged two weeks.

Mr. Melvin Taylor and his brother, Ward Taylor, are very sick but with little hope of recovery.

Mr. Pen Taylor and family, of Smalltown, spent a few days at Liberty last week.

Mr. Thad Barnard and wife were the guests of A. C. Stevens Saturday night.

Robin Hood Gives Some Political Hits,

At our Circuit Court just past, only one person was sentenced to the penitentiary. The jury gave him one year. The judge however took compassion on the boy, he is a colored youth of about 16 years of age and granted him a new trial. Whereupon he pleaded guilty and was fined $75.

JUDGE GRAHAM.—Mr. John C. Graham, of Leitchfield, is a candidate for Congress. We understand Mr. Graham is at work on a scheme whereby he will be enabled to consolidate the Democratic and Third party vote and by this means take hold of his boot straps and lift himself into the seat now so ably filled by Uncle John W. Lewis. Mr. Graham, however, will find that whilst he is getting Third party votes on his free silverism, he will be losing sound money votes. He will lose two votes while making one. But this silver boomerang is not the only thing with which Mr. Graham will have to contend; there is Uncle John W. Lewis whom we have already mentioned. If Mr. Graham undertakes to run against him before he gets through, he will think this is a weary, weary world in which we live, and will wish he had never been born.

As To Assessors.—In last week's issue the correspondent to this paper from Olaton, makes out a slate of county candidates to be elected in 1897. He renominates one N. C. Daniel, for the office of Assessor. For the benefit of this gentleman from Olaton, and also the people at large, we submit section 104 of our present constitution, which is in manner and form as follows, to wit: "The general Assembly may abolish the office of Assessor and provide that the assessment of property shall be made by other officers, but it shall have power to re-establish the office of Assessor and prescribe his duties. No person shall be eligible to the office of Assessor two consecutive terms."

The Olaton correspondent will therefore observe that he will have to hunt up another man for Assessor. Perhaps the gentleman would not be averse to being struck by lightning himself.

Judge J. R. McBeath, of this judicial district, will be a candidate for re-election. Judge McBeath is an able judge, but his politics are of such a miserable sort that it would be well to give some good Republican the soft berth in which he has snuggled so long.

OUR FRIENDS THE ENEMY.—The Democrats of this county have exhibited some interest during the last week in their County Convention which is to be held here to-morrow. There has been no small amount of discussion between the gold bugs and silver beetles. Last week a prominent attorney and Democrat who is a sound money man and one of our leading farmers who is a free silver man of the most rabid sort, had a heated discussion, and came near having a personal difficulty. The attorney however kept cool, else they would have undoubtedly scuffled. It is quite sad to see good Democrats falling out over this matter. They should remember the scriptural text which says: Behold how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in Unity. The Convention to-morrow will be dominated largely by the free silver men. If the sound money men make any fight at all, they will be run over rough shod. Prof. Shacklett, of this place, who is a free silverite, went out to Jolly's Station last Saturday night, which is a strong free silver hold and spoke to the boys. That part of the county will attend the convention in force, and the free silver fellows will be in the saddle prepared to ride down all opposition.

Rev. Mr. Perrell, of Louisville, preached Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist Church. He filled the place of Rev. Hunt who is the regular pastor, but was unable to fill his appointment.
A whale was on exhibition at Cloverport last week. It was towed up the river and has been exhibited at towns along the bank.
Mr. Frank Haswell is at home after an extended trip through Indiana and Missouri.
Mr. A. X. Kinchloe, of this place, has accepted a position as traveling salesman for Pichhennen Bros. & Co., of Cincinnati.
ROBIN HOOD.

Good Old Granny Metcalf, 86 years old, living at 618 Monroe street, Paducah, Ky., says that Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey is the best grip cure, cough, lung and bronchial remedy that has been offered to the people during her life. Guaranteed by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., druggist, and Renfrow Bros., Narroway, Ky.

"It isn't hard," said a LaRue county farmer last week as he paused in front of a dry goods store here in town, carrying in his hands a few yards of calico, two or three straw hats and some thread, "for me to tell why I'm a Republican; seems that under a Republican administration I brought my wool to town, sold it and got all the goods I needed and had a little money left. Then on the other hand, under a Democratic administration I have just as much wool and have got to need very little goods if I expect my wool to pay for them. I'm for the Republican party because the Republican party is for me." Speaking of pardons, the Democrats allowed themselves to forget that they once had a Governor by the name of Blackburn, not Joe by a long shot. Luke Blackburn, who couldn't find enough men to pardon, the State couldn't convict men half as fast as he pardoned them and he had to pick out men he thought might break the law and pardon them. Guess you Democrats had better fix up family matters first.

Here is a few Democratic predictions which you'll doubtless find to be just as much like a Democrat as one pea is like another:

"January, 1896—The Republican party is torn by internal feuds. The Venezuelan message of President Cleveland will unite the country in his support."

March—The Republicans are speaking of Major McKinley for President, but he is opposed by a powerful combination. Now is the Democratic opportunity.

May—The Republicans seem to be uniting on Major McKinley, the high priest of protection, etc. Democrats must awake. The welfare of the country demands, etc., etc."

And so it goes on until November when it'll be: "Well owing to so-and-so we couldn't win but we'll fix 'em in 1900." The Democrats it are wonderfully prophetic.

Occasionally they hit but it is so all-fired seldom that they may be seen around the Court House and on the street corners declaiming to each other that accidents will happen."

Well things are moving on the quite up here so in conclusion I will ask through these columns to stand firm for the man who stands firm for you and whose thoughts are not of how much it will be in his own pocket, but how much in the pocket of his people. Talk for Lewis, vote for Lewis, for by so doing you are helping yourself and your fellow men. GILMONFIELD.

Our physician gave me some help, but did not cure. I decided to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Soon I could do all my own housework. I have taken

HONESTY THE BEST POLICY.

Why President Hayes, in 1879, vetoed the Standard Silver Dollar Exchange Act. President Hayes believed that our national honor could not be too jealously guarded. In this he differed radically from our sixteen to one statesmen, who are anxious not only to see our government repudiate one-half of its debts but to see one-half of all debts repudiated. It might be well for these statesmen to ponder some of Hayes' reasons for vetoing the act (passed over his head) to coin and make legal tender silver dollars worth, in gold, only 80 to 92 cents. He said that "the right to pay debts in silver or in silver certificates for silver deposits will, when they are issued in sufficient amount to circulate, put an end to the receipt of revenue in gold, and thus compel the payment of silver for both the principal and interest of the public debt." He said that nearly $100,000,000 of the funded debt then outstanding was issued since 1873, "when gold money was the coin for which the bonds were sold, and gold money was the coin in which both parties to the contract understood that the bonds would be paid." These bonds," he continues, "entered into the markets of the world. They were paid for in gold when silver was greatly depreciated and when no one would have bought them if it had been understood that they would be paid in silver." He believed that, in the judgment of mankind, it would be an act of bad faith not to guarantee that proceeds of debt should be paid in as good money as was legal tender when these debts were contracted—in other words, that the government should not legalize the breaking of contracts. "The standard of value," he said, "should not be changed without the consent of both parties to the contract. National promises should be kept with unflinching fidelity. There is no power to compel a nation to pay its debts. Its credit depends on its honor. The nation owes what it has led or allowed its creditors to expect. I cannot approve a bill which in my judgment authorizes the violation of sacred obligations. The obligation of the public faith transcends all questions of profit or public advantage. Its unquestionable maintenance is the dictate as well of the highest expediency as of the most necessary duty and should be ever carefully guarded by the executive, by congress and by the people."

He closed his message by saying that "it is my firm conviction that if the country is to be benefited by a silver coinage it can be done only by the issue of silver dollars of full value, which will defraud no man. A currency worth less than it purports to be worth will in the end default not only creditors, but all who are engaged in legitimate business, and none more surely than those whose dependence on their daily labor for their daily bread."

Chopping with a Bull Ax.
A frequently used argument for free coinage is the claim that it would "make more work." As there are always some idle men who want employment, this promise is an attractive one. But, like all other silver promises, it is based on a delusion. It is true that under free silver the farmers and laborers would have to work harder in order to get the same quantity of goods that they do now. In so far there would be "more work," just as there would be if all the lumbermen were forced to chop with dull axes. But nobody wants that kind of an increase of work. Men do not really want work for itself, but for the things which they get in return for their labor. A scheme which proposes to make it more difficult to produce things is not likely to help the people who already find that they have to work too hard and too long for too small a quantity of the things they need. Giving more opportunities for idle men to get employment is a public benefit. But making all who are now employed work harder for the same results, which would be the effect of free silver, would be a positive loss to the whole people.

What the Good Dollar Says.
I never fell for no pay and was never protected for nonpayment. I never deceived or defrauded. I am worth all I claim. I need no legal tender. I need no redeemer. I owe all my value to labor. I am the same, whether stamped or not, and whether called one name or another.

I never get indignant except when I am undervalued. I never get tired, except when I am required to keep a lot of poor neighbors up to par. They sometimes get too hungry and too long for tea and let me down to their own level. I will not stay where I am compelled to do too much drudgery.—W. D. McClung, in "Money Talks."

Tracy's Trip to the Encampment.

Having returned from Somerset and being very much enthused with what I saw and heard I have concluded to write to you in regard to our trip, that the old comrades in Ohio county may catch the spirit and feelings of those in attendance at the State Encampment. I met comrade Wood Tinsley there, Jolly Wood that he always was—full of life.

I also met comrade Thomas Griffin, from the Washington Edison Post. As this was the first State Encampment he had attended I took some pains to have him enjoy himself, but Tom got there all the same. The Governor and his Staff were there, and they reviewed the parade from a large stand erected in the public square, but comrades' grandest man of all was there and was kept busy shaking hands with the old boys. I refer to Gen. E. H. Hobson, who is the friend of my private soldier. He will not let any soldier get a head of him when on parade, although he had the rheumatism he was at the head of the parade which was a mile long. There were also about 800 school children in line headed by their teacher, running down to the smallest little tot and each and everyone carried a small flag. Now comrades, this was the grandest sight I ever saw. It displayed more patriotism than I ever saw and I felt like shouting all the time. Then there was quite a number of Sons of Veterans in line with a drum of corps, and among the lot was Capt. R. M. Buckley in command with his son, aged 14 years. They are the son and grand son of Col. H. M. Buckley, who was second Colonel of the old Louisville Legion during the war. Col. Buckley received the largest vote in the Encampment for Delegate to the National Encampment at St. Paul this fall, your humble scribe receiving the next highest vote, an honor that any old soldier should be proud.

There were about 400 hundred old comrades in line and quite a number who were not able to march.

I was about to forget to mention that Col. Forbes, of Fordsville, was there and was re-elected State Historian, which is quite an honor and I predict that he will get together more historical matter than we ever had; also comrade Truman, from Fordsville, was there, but Wood Tinsley snored too loud for him and he lost some rest, but he lived through it all and we brought him off the field of action in good shape.

Now as to the election of officers, Col. A. Wheeden was elected Commander, Capt. A. J. Harp, from Minton, was elected Senior Vice Commander, Capt. Trimble, of Somerset, was elected Junior Vice Commander. Comrade Lewis Robinson, of Bowling Green, was elected Chaplain; Maj. J. A. Donnell was re-appointed A. A. G. Gen. and Capt. Joe Bell was re-appointed A. Q. M. The rest of the staff will be appointed soon as the department is in good shape.

There were sixteen new Posts mustered during the last year, with 293 new members.

Now I want to say that Col. Kelly's administration was satisfactory in all respects; the staff presented him with a beautiful badge and the Ladies Relief Corps and those of the G. A. R. presented him with a beautiful silver pitcher.

Now I want to say something about the citizens of Somerset. They are the most patriotic people in Kentucky. The county furnished about 3,000 men to the Union army. They are refined, intelligent and honorable in all they undertake.

Yours,
D. F. TRACY.

SCHOOL CLOSES.

Interesting Programs Each Night.

Commencement week is always a gay time for the students and friends of Hartford College and this week finds no change in the sentiment. Beginning with Tuesday night and continuing throughout the entire week the public has been royally entertained by the students of the College. The school has been unusually successful this year and all the students and teachers have been feeling in good shape for Commencement.

Miss Margaret Nall's class in music appeared before a crowded house at College Hall Tuesday evening. Their selections were good, the rendition of which was perfect. Miss Nall takes great delight in having her pupils to appear in public.

Wednesday evening the class in English Literature under Prof. Foster appeared at Court Hall with orations, interspersed with instrumental and vocal music. The young ladies and gentlemen acquitted themselves handsomely and deserve especial notice if space would permit. Yesterday evening at the College Hall the class in Rhetoric entertained the public in a manner that would have done credit to any class. Last night Prof. A. L. Peterman, of Lexington, delivered the annual address to the two Literary Societies. A large crowd greeted the speaker and was well entertained by his timely and well chosen words. Mr. Peterman is one of the finest educators in the State and the Societies deserve praise for securing his services. To-night the exercises will close when the graduating class will appear with their orations, and after awarding the diplomas Hartford College will close for the year.
